

"THE FULL DRESS PARADE OF ALBERTA LIBERALISM"

Minister of the Interior Banquetted Last Night

Distinguished Guests From all Sections of the Province Gathered Round the Festal Board to Honor an Illustrious Albertan in One of the Most Notable Demonstrations Ever Tendered a Canadian Public Man

When 450 men rose to their feet in the Thistle Rink last night and cheered until the rafters rang, the name of the Minister of the Interior was a living, tangible evidence that the enthusiasm for the principles of Liberalism and admiration for their elected representative is strong in Edmonton and in the province of Alberta.

The Oliver banquet last night was a triumph. Not only in numbers and enthusiasm and in the brilliancy of the oratory, but in the fact, as well of the representation from so many different parts of the province.

From the east, the west, south and north the assemblage was gathered and it would have been a stranger indeed who could not have recognized familiar faces from almost any siding in the province.

The attendance from all parts of the province made the function one truly provincial in its scope, a splendid representation of Alberta Liberalism. With this wide attendance, the uniform excellence and scope of the speeches and the abounding enthusiasm joined to make the event one of the most remarkable demonstrations ever made to a Canadian public man.

Many hours before the appointed time preparations were under way, and when guests commenced to arrive they found the great auditorium beautifully decorated with flags, flowers and bunting and the high arched roof a blaze of light from myriad shimmering lights strung from the rafters. The tables were set in four parallel rows, with the guest's table across the front of the hall. At the centre of this sat R. F. Manson, president of the Liberal Association of Edmonton. At his right hand sat the guest of the evening, Honourable Frank Oliver, while ranged in order along the table were Dr. Strong and J. A. McKinnon, of the Young Liberal Club; Mayor May, M. D.; Mills, Strathcona; Kenney, M.P.P.; ex-Mayor MacKenzie, J. T. Moore, M.P.P.; Hon. W. T. Finlay, D. McIntyre, M.P.; Hon. Senator Ray, J. H. Gariepy, first vice-president Liberal Association; Geo. B. MacLeod, president of the Young Liberal Club; Dr. Stewart, Calgary; Dr. Clarke, of Olds; Duncan Marshall, Edmonton; C. W. Simmons, M.P.P. for Calgary; R. E. Butchart, Edmonton; John A. McPherson, M.P.; A. B. Butchart, and J. B. Holden, M.P.P.

Above this table, and spanning the entire auditorium was a great banner, entwined with the national emblem, on which were blazoned the words, "Welcome our honored guest."

It was within a minute, or two of 9 o'clock when the company sat down to the repast provided by mine host MMPsPDCWPI too his mine host of the rince Arthur Cafe, and an hour was spent in discussing the viands and ices that go to inculcate the human family with that feeling of calm confidence which makes an after dinner speech a welcome dessert, and by the time cafe noir and Havanaes were reached the company was ready for the sparkles of oratory that graced the occasion.

Mr. P. J. Manson opened the programme of the evening by proposing the toast of the Senate and the House of Commons, with which he connected the names of Senator Talbot, Senator Roy, Senator De Visser and Dr. McIntyre, M.P. (Continued on page eight.)

Engine House Burned

Edmonton Brick Co. Suffered From A Fire Last Evening.

A bad fire took place last night about eight o'clock at the Edmonton Brick Co.'s plant on the west end flats. The engine house and adjoining sheds are a total loss while the engine, boiler and much valuable machinery was badly damaged, much of it beyond repair. The origin of the fire is not a certainty, but it was first discovered in a small shed adjoining the engine room which had been used by four Galician workmen as a bunkhouse and it is supposed that it caught from a stove used by them, although they affirm that there was no fire in the stove when they went out some time before the fire was discovered. Another of the workmen says there was fire in the stove at five o'clock.

The fire had gained quite a headway before discovered and the foreman, P. Horstead bent all his energies to saving the rest of the plant, and in rescuing what machinery he could, with the result that the fire was confined to the one building.

The loss is placed at approximately $3,000 with no insurance.

The company is installing at the present an up-to-date brick manufacturing plant with an artificial dryer, so that they will be able to work all winter. Their new plant will be in operation by the middle of November and as they have about 700,000 brick on hand, they will be able to keep all their customers supplied until they get to making again. Luckily, very little of their new machinery was stored in the burned building and there will be no delay in rushing the new plant to completion.

WILL GIVE CUBA ANOTHER CHANCE. (Bulletin Special)

Washington, Oct. 3.—President Roosevelt discussed freely today with the cabinet and with individual members, the present situation in Cuba and temporary occupation by the American forces. The matter was talked over at the cabinet meeting. The president reiterated that the action taken by the American government was destined solely for the benefit of the people of the island, with a view to complete restoration of order there and the protection of all interests. He declared that he had no such notice in view as the possible annexation of the island. What he wanted now was that the Cubans should be given another chance of self-government. It seems to be well settled that former Governor Charles Maguosa, of the Panama Canal, who has just returned from Panama, will be appointed governor of the provisional government of Cuba.

The president has given some consideration to the possibility of the postponement of his trip to Panama next month, because of the situation in Cuba, in which case the trip should be made after the adjournment of congress next spring.

It is likely that the correspondence will soon be made public in order to give a clear idea what efforts the American government made to avoid intervention. More information has been secured here which indicates the length of time that the United States will occupy Cuba, but the presumption is that it will be some time before a stable government can again be placed in power.

Secretary Taft cabled the war department today requesting that Brigadier-General Funston be designed to command the American troops in Cuba and the military secretary immediately issued an order to that effect.

Traffic Moves Again

C.P.R. Claim The Fort William Trouble Is Ended

(Bulletin Special)
Fort William, Ont. Oct. 5.—The paralysis of traffic is at an end and there are several hundred men in the sheds busily handling the accumulated freight. The C.P.R. superintendent declares the trouble is over and that the company are getting the best of the strikers and that all are glad to resume work. The scene at the docks is one of exceeding animation. As a result of the tie up here during the past few days the Sarnia unloaded at Port Arthur. This is the first time a C.P.R. boat has had to do this.

Canada's Finances

September Shows A Betterment Of Nearly Three Million Dollars

(Bulletin Special)
Ottawa, Oct. 5.—The statement of revenue and expenditure of the Dominion for the first quarter of the fiscal year ending with September shows a revenue of $21,000,475, an increase of $2,901,692 over the same time last year. The expenditure was $18,061,295, an increase of about $200,000, so there was a betterment of nearly two millions and three quarters. The capital expenditure was $1,883,707, a decrease of $339,579, which makes a betterment over all expenditures of over three millions for the month of September. There was an increase of over a million in the revenue and a decrease of over a million in the expenditures.

Fernie Strike

Strikers Determined To Hold Out But Management Is Hopeful

Nelson, B. C. Oct. 5.—There is no hope of a settlement of the Fernie strike. The miners last night at a meeting determined not to go back until all the men had joined the union. Hundreds of men are leaving the camp expecting a long struggle. On the other hand the management, according to a circular issued, expect that the strike will be over inside of three weeks. The smelter has enough coke for only three or four weeks. The other smelters are equally short and the situation will presently be acute.

Montreal, Oct. 5.—The coroner this morning closed the inquest upon the body of the Italian who was murdered in Graham street twelve days ago without obtaining the slightest clue as to who the victim was or who committed the deed. The whole affair is most mysterious and the difficulties of the investigation have been greatly increased by the fear of the Italians when giving evidence.

A Good Season

(Bulletin Special)
 Winnipeg, Oct. 5.—"It is quite true," said Mr. Whyte, second vice president of the C. P. R., this morning to a reporter representing the city press, "that the company has not been able to supply all the cars that it is as well that the public should know although from the government gain inspector's report there have been inspectors at Winnipeg from the first of September to the night of the 3rd of October, 6,531,000 bushels, as compared with 6,613,250 bushels to the same date last year, and in addition to the cars inspected there would be both years close to 3,000 cars loaded that had not reached Winnipeg for inspection and yet will understand that in quoting these figures I am referring to grain shipped over our line. The handling was year was particularly satisfactory and had it not been for the early ripening and harvesting of the crop this year and for the ideal weather that has been experienced here, the grain would have been in excess of last year's figures and no such statement as I am now making would be necessary. In addition to the weather conditions mentioned, there are now in the country 4,500 threshing machines, the large increase in which has aided in the harvesting of the grain, the grain has gone from the stalk to the granary, elevators and cars. The number of threshing machines in which the equipment is employed, is a tribute of separating from the stalk six or seven million bushels of grain daily, figures almost past our grasp. We were not satisfied with the extent of the equipment, and we have employed last year and have built and purchased power and material for cars in every market available, yet that market has been most unsatisfactory because we had our manufacturing operations suspended from time to time, through our inability to get materials. Nevertheless, in the face of these difficulties, we have made some advantages from the fact that we have seventy-three additional locomotives of the largest type west of the lakes at the present moment and an addition of 100 box cars over the number employed in handling the crop at a similar date last year and some 300 cars of other classes."
 "We have always figured on having all our improvement work, such as ballasting new lines, enlargement of our yards and relaying of heavy steel completed each season, and the power needed for the purpose of using it in what movement and the road is clear for an uninterrupted service by September 20. This has been our plan this year and has been carried out excepting in respect to the completion of some stretches of double track work which we were desirous of getting the advantage of in handling the grain from now on. The fact that the crop started to move before this work was completed according to our plan had had some effect upon the movement."
 "A great deal of the coal consumed for domestic purposes in the west has come from the Lethbridge mines. As the public are aware, the mines there have been closed since the 8th of March due to the labor trouble. This mine has been in the habit of shipping coal throughout the summer season, storing it up in every inch of available space, and we arranged to do this as far as our influence could go so there would be supply in plenty for the winter season, and in order that there would be sufficient in store to enable us to withdraw part of our equipment from that service for the wheat movement. This year their shipments have been small and this stockpiling did not proceed at the same time so that the company, during the initial stages of the movement of the crop this year, had to divert cars to take coal requirements in an endeavor to place the public as far as it lay in our power in the same position as at this time last year with respect to their domestic coal requirements. As I have personally concluded that the comfort of their people was of more importance than the mere adding to the quantity of wheat that we should get to the lake front as compared with a similar date last year. On the handling of this fuel supply we have always figured on equipping our flat cars employed in improvement service with sides of wire and ends, but in this also we have been hampered because we find it impossible to get material in the west to deliver the material to us as fast as we can put them into service the mills being over taxed and so far in arrears with the business on hand.

NO BOOM AT VEGREVILLE,

just a steady healthy growth. Values are not high, and will go higher. No hurry about buying, because prices will ascend for years to come. You never will be able to buy land cheaper than they are now, and the time to buy is when there is no excitement, because values are at a more profitable level when people are not scrambling to buy. Think of good residence lots, 50x150, with good broad streets and alleys from $50.00 to $200.00 each. This is an absolute sale proposition, and will surely make a good deal of money. We are conservative when we say that Vegreville will not stop growing until it has a population of 10,000. The reason for our being so positive for this assertion is that towns in the Western States, having not near as much land tributary to them as Vegreville has, are bigger than 10,000 people. There were ten steam ploughs went into Vegreville this last spring. Each outfit will plough a quarter section of land every day. These outfits with the ones that are already there, and the horses and oxen that are occupied in the same task, mean a large area of land brought under the plough this year. All this land will give grain to sell, and products to buy and Vegreville will be the trading centre for these people. Rolfe & Kenwood have lots for sale in Vegreville.

During the negotiations Zahieko was led to believe he was signing an assignment of sale instead of a transfer. It is claimed that as soon as Shuster got the property he turned it over to his wife, and Zahieko was unable to collect the money for the two notes of $250 each, which he held against Shuster. The plaintiff asked for the recovery of his property. The magistrate reserved judgment.

CV WARMAN INTOWN

Winnipeg Free Press—Cy Warman, of the publicity bureau of the C.N.R. was in the city after spending a few weeks out on the line. In conversation with a Free Press reporter, at the Royal Alexandra.

Warman said:

"We have just returned from the west, where we spent three weeks in viewing the country and securing information of various sorts. Among other things I purchased, while in the west, was one-half of the townsite of Dalmey. This land I purchased in the name of the Washington correspondents, who formed a syndicate and purchased a quantity of farm lands during their visit to the country a year or two ago. I purchased this town property owing to the fact that the Canadian Northern railway had decided to build a line of track northward from Dalmey, a distance of twenty-five miles into a district that will grow more wheat in the future than any other similar area in the world. The new line lies between the Prince Albert branch of the Canadian Northern and the river, and is to the north of the main line running to Edmonton. The company surveyed the line through this territory and commenced the grading the next day. The yield of wheat in the district has been phenomenal this year. I learned of one small area on which the yield was 51 bushels to the acre and on another 50-acre piece the yield was 46 1-2 bushels per acre.

"While in the west I spent some time in gathering material for a book of Indian stories which I am to publish soon. I have my own ideas of the Indian and am in much sympathy with those who believe that the Indian is all right until we get hold of him and spoil him. I have many times been told by guides in the far west and north that it is not necessary to conceal property which was to be left behind in travelling, because it was impossible that any white men would be in the district. The guides did not feel it necessary to remark that there was nothing to be feared in the way of theft from the Indians of the country. I expressed in a short story my ideas regarding the Indians, and regarding the effect on them of our treatment of them, but I have not yet found a publisher who would print my story. I have no hesitation in saying that the race is never benefited by its contact with the white races and that the harm from the contact is all on the side of the Indian."

"I would also like to call attention again to the great need of increased hotel accommodation in a very large part of the western country. It is deplorable that proper accommodation has not been furnished the hundreds of travellers who are inspecting the lands of the great Northwest, and who are spending their money in the country with a view to its development. There are thousands of prospective land buyers in the west who are willing to invest the money in the country and who are doing so and who have met in their work with much hardship which might have been prevented. One of the great needs of the west at the present time is a system of good hotels."

250 cars of wheat per day are arriving at Fort William.

Building permits issued in Winnipeg this year will pass the eleven million mark.

The Winnipeg council has appointed Mr. Cecil B. Smith, the Ontario power expert, to design and superintend the construction of a power plant at Point-du-Bois, on the Winnipeg river.

J. B. Jackson, Canadian agent at Leeds, Eng., says that Canadian wheat is being sought far in the north of England for the mills of Hull, Grimsby and York. One firm buys 58,000 bushels per week.

There are 5,300,000 bushels in the Manitoba and N.W.T. elevators, and 922,000 bushels of wheat in the elevators at Fort William, Port Arthur and Keewatin, which gives us some idea of the wheat still left with the farmers.

The total wheat crop of 1905 has been estimated at $2,310,000,000 and it is interesting to note that the Grain Dealers' association estimated the above crop in the previous June, 1905, at $5,574,000 bushels and in October, 1905, at $6,810,000 bushels.

Winnipeg will have a pure food show under the auspices of the Grocers' association on Nov. 17th.

Wilfrid Ledoux, of Armand, Manitoba, has invented a grain wagon that will unload into a granary or car in three minutes. It is calculated to save the farmers one cent a bushel in handling their crops. The grain is sent up a chute into the car from the wagon.

MOBILE RIOTS

Mobile, Ala., Oct. 6.—Roy Hoyle, a special surveyor of the Mobile and Ohio railroad was fatally shot, and Alderman Sidney Lyons, chairman of the city council of Mobile was slightly wounded in the hand tonight during a fight at the county jail between deputy sheriffs and a crowd of men determined to capture Dick Robinson, a young negro. The crowd still surrounded the place and will lynch him if possible.

The negro, who is only seventeen years old, today attacked the 12 year old daughter of Blount Soaman, who lives about three miles from here. The girl was passing a wheeled spot not far from her home when she was attacked.

Later she was lying unconscious by the road side and was taken to her home. The detectives captured the negro in a few hours. The girl at once identified him. Deputy Sheriff Hatch sent him to a station several miles up the M.O.R.

There have been several assaults on white women within the last few weeks, and the news of the latest outrage caused intense excitement.

Governor Jenks, who was in the city tonight, ordered three companies of militia to be brought here as quickly as possible.

STEAL RUSSIAN SHIPS

St. Petersburg, Oct. 4.—A remarkable story published by the "Retch" shows that even entire ships belonging to the State may be stolen in Russia.

The "Retch" states that after the war the Ministry gave directions for the sale of twenty-two vessels lying in Vladivostok harbor, among them being three passenger steamers and eight transports.

The sale duly took place but when the purchasers arrived at Vladivostok to remove the ships they found them in a most deplorable condition, all the more valuable parts, including even the bronze door handles, having been removed.

They further discovered that one of the transports, the Matilda, was missing altogether. It was ascertained that one day an unknown man went on board the Matilda with a crew of 100 men and took the vessel away unchallenged. He then painted the vessel another color and changed its name.

The authorities are now making a diligent search for the Matilda.

HOW LANGUAGE CHANGES

The "spelling reform" instituted by Mr. Andrew Carnegie and endorsed by President Roosevelt is in reality only an attempt to short-cut the process of evolution and whatever may be the outcome of the movement itself its purposes would doubtless be largely gained in time by the natural change which language undergoes in the process of use. An interesting illustration of this is the following form in which the Lord's Prayer have been written at different times.

A. D. 1258—"Fader ure in heune, halowede beeth thi neune, cumen thi kuniche; thi wille beeth idon in heune and in erthe. The euerich dare bried gif oue thiik dawe. And vorzif ure dettes as vi vorzif ure dettours. And lede us nought into temptation, bot delvyr of vrel. Amen."

A. D. 1300—"Fadir our in hersepe. Halowyd by hi name, thi kingdom come. Thi wille be don as in hevene and in erthe. Dure urche dayes bred give us to-day. And forgive us our dettes as we forgive our dettours. And lede us not into temptation. Bote delvyrer us of vrel. Amen."

A. D. 1611—"Our father which is in heaven, hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come. Thy wille be done in earth as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread. And forgive us our debts as we forgive our debtors. And lede us not into temptation but deliver us from evil. Amen."

A SO-CALLED AMUSEMENT

The Frank Paper, under the caption, "A Brutal Bucking Contest," makes the following timely remarks, regarding so-called "bucking" exhibitions:

"The matinee given by the Pass Turf association at Blairmore last week furnished striking evidence of the necessity of the organization of a society for the prevention of cruelty to animals. We refer to the so-called bucking contest in which three horses were cruelly punished to make them do something mean which they had no inclination to do. Not one of the three horses wanted to be bad and each had to be spurred shamefully to make it do a little pitching. It is safe to say that not one person who witnessed the alleged contest derived any pleasure from it, and certainly every person present who has any love for a horse at all was thoroughly disgusted. The fact is that the day of the bucking contest is passing and is pretty nearly passed altogether. It was well enough in the days when horses roamed the range and were not domesticated as they are now, to have bucking contests, as in those times there were many animals that were naturally bad and which bucked without being made to and because they wanted to, because they were innately bad. They didn't have to be spurred to make them pitch and the contest which was to determine who was the best rider had interest and excitement for the spectator."

The day for this alleged form of entertainment has gone and the practice should be stopped both by public disapproval and where necessary by legal action.

THE STREET RAILWAY SITUATION

Mayor May did well to ask the commissioners and the city engineer to prepare estimates of the cost of a street railway system. With such estimates before them the council will be able to consider the proposal of the Radial Railway company in its proper light by considering whether the city is in a position to finance a municipal system and if so whether the investment appears justifiable.

It should be borne in mind that offers from private companies to build street railway systems in the city are not original but alternative proposals. A municipally owned and operated system is the original proposal, has been in the minds of the citizens for years and must always be understood as being before the house. Proposals to build systems by any other means are alternatives only to this understood proposition, and should be entertained only when it is shown that the original proposal is impossible or that the alternative is more desirable from the standpoint of the city.

That a system in private hands would under any reasonably normal circumstances be preferable to a municipal system may be considered disproven by both history and the logic of finance. The council is safe in throwing this question overboard therefore and narrowing its inquiry down to the problem of whether or not the city can finance the enterprise. If so, all negotiations with private companies should be respectfully declined; if not, it should still be remembered that what may not be possible today will assuredly be possible tomorrow and that "doing without something" temporarily is frequently the best kind of economy. To the railway promoters this will look like a game of "Heads I win, tails you lose." So be it.

Assuming, what can scarcely be doubted, that the city can finance the enterprise, the estimates will serve the further purpose of enabling the council to judge whether or not the time has come when a street railway system would be a good investment. This is really the kernel of the whole question for a system which was not found a good investment could render a satisfactory service under neither municipal nor private ownership. That the company, presumably after careful consideration, believe it a good investment is a strong argument that the city would find the venture profitable, if not in the very near, at least in the not very remote future. The company would undertake to make the road pay satisfactory returns on the investment in thirty years, and from the history of street railways, pay handsomely. The city in operating the system would be bound by no time expiring franchise. If the company could make the venture a financial success in thirty years, why not the city? And the city would not be bound to do so in thirty years for its franchise has no time limit.

The Western Fair and Exhibition

The Farmers Advocate in its issue of September 26th, comes out with a timely and salutary article on the subject of fairs, and what they do for the exhibitors. The writer makes an analysis of the prize monies that are hung up by the directors. He observes that not all the money hung up is won or can be won, for often the lots are padded to include classes which there is no possibility of being exhibited. The aim of course, is to receive a larger grant from the government, a practice which is highly reprehensible and tends to debase the committee and devote public money to wrong ends. "It is known," says the writer, "that some shows use the annual grants to pay for their grounds and buildings instead of distributing the money among the farming community."

Figures are submitted which show the monies actually paid by the various western fairs and the relative standing of each. Winnipeg takes first rank and Edmonton is graded fifth and Calgary seventh. Regina is the lowest. This classification is significant in that it shows the two provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan at the bottom. One would not have been surprised to find the British Columbia fair at the bottom, as it is never claimed agriculture in the western fairs continued. A leading industry of the Pacific province. The comparison brings out the need of fostering only good shows, and only in such places with support necessary to make them successful.

All the fairs get grants from their respective governments and from the various breed societies, the latter societies giving grants on the understanding that an equal amount be set aside in prizes for the particular breed section that makes the grant. These grants are generally supplemented by their respective towns and adjacent municipalities. Winnipeg and Regina, it is asserted, are the only fairs that return in prizes equal amounts to those granted by the breed societies, and if those who violate this agreement lose their government grants, they have only themselves to blame.

The prize list reveals some incongruities, namely that Edmonton gives more for grade Jerseys than for pure breeds, and given money for grade bulls equal in amount to that given for pure bred Jersey bulls. It is claimed the Holstein means a grievance, the prize list being inadequate in this valuable dairy breed, and the prizes for "bacon pure breeds" is not uniform. The bringing out of good exhibit depends as much on the equitable arrangement of the money hung up, as the amount, or the qualifications of the judges employed.

In conclusion, the writer observes that there are certain fields in which it is folly for the smaller fairs to compete with the big ones, especially in the matter of "attractions," and that "Edmonton promises to have the big fair of the prairie country outside of Winnipeg, if present indications and a liberal prize list are any evidence of the trend of thought of the directors."

Mineral water shipped in carboys and barrels and bottled at distant points—is like champagne kept over night uncorked. It's dull and flat. "SANITARIS" is bottled at the springs at Annapolis, Ontario—just as it comes from virgin rock—with all its natural snap and sparkle retained.

May Move Supply

City Engineer Keeley and Superintendent McNaughton Favor Up-River Pumping Station

Acting on instructions from the city council R. R. Keeley, city engineer and P. McNaughton superintendent at the city power house took a trip up the river yesterday to look over the possible sites for a new waterworks. The city engineer is of the opinion that in order to guarantee pure water for the city the plant will sooner or later will have to be moved up the river above the town. He does not consider the proposition to lay a pipe line to the power house with an intake higher up feasible. As a result of their examination yesterday he and Mr. McNaughton will recommend to the city that the plant be moved to a point three or four miles up the river. They found a place on section 30 on which a plant could be favorably located at a point from which it would only require a mile and three-quarters of pipe to reach the city, following the square corners of the road allowance but which would be about about three miles up the river, taking into consideration the windings. As the present location of the plant is now in the centre of the city and as the ever increasing settlement above the intake is certain to contaminate the water to a certain extent, there is no doubt the recommendations of the engineer and superintendent will command serious consideration.

NELSON AND BRUCE

The following from the Brandon Sun will be interesting in view of the fact that Mr. Nelson and Mr. Bruce show here next week:

For many years Harold Nelson and Clifford Lane Bruce have been strong favorites with Brandon theatre-goers.

In the big crowd that on Friday evening greeted Nelson and Bruce, and in the hearty reception accorded the company, there was every evidence that these clever actors have lost none of their popularity in this city.

The opening bill of their present engagement was "A Soldier of Fortune" and there was nothing wanting in the finished production of that romantic drama.

Despite the storm there was a big house and a better pleased audience has probably never been seen in the Brandon theatre. Mr. Nelson and Mr. Bruce were each accorded a hearty reception, and throughout the evening the expressions of approval were generous and frequent.

The bill was a charming one and the principals were probably stronger than ever before. The support was perfect. There was a most pleasing artistic swing to the piece throughout, and "A Soldier of Fortune" would stand repeating on some future occasion, so satisfactory was the first production. Excellent indeed were the stage settings and the costumes, as usual lent a splendor which contributed in no small measure to the success of the drama.

Mr. Nelson, as Sir Rupert, the Wanderer, gave a most artistic portrayal of that very difficult character, and was never better received, not even in Richelleu, in which role he has recently scored a great success here. Cever as the great Canadian actor has shown himself to be, he seems stronger on each re-appearance.

Mr. Bruce, as Victor von Tellemund, was excellent, and the greeting accorded him made it apparent that he still retains his hold upon Brandon theatre-goers.

One of the cleverest little women ever seen in drama here in Pearl Besor, who made her first appearance on Friday evening in the very difficult part of Princess Yelva. This lady by her most capable work at once won the hearts of all. She has a good voice, a splendid stage presence, a charming manner, and is in every way qualified to accord the support required from the leading lady in the Nelson-Bruce Co.

The other members of the company gave good support, and the good work of each met with warm expressions of approval.

POPULAR STUDENTS

The death of Miss L. Mae Dece, which took place Thursday at her home in Beaver Hills will be learned with deep regret by her many friends in Edmonton.

The circumstances in connection with her demise are particularly sad. For the past two years she has been in attendance at Alberta College and during the summer continued her studies there. Several months ago she went to her home to spend a few days, but was taken ill with typhoid fever, which ultimately resulted in her death after she had apparently partially recovered. The late Miss Dece was a favorite with all who knew her, both inside and outside the college. She was a member of the First Presbyterian Choir in this city and also an excellent pianist of considerable ability. The funeral takes place next Sunday at noon.

STILL UNSETTLED

Calgary, Oct. 4.—Yesterday was a quiet day for the strikers, no meetings between employers and employees taking place. In the morning the building trades council had a meeting and decided that they would endeavor to arrange a meeting with the committee to meet the exchange in the afternoon without success.

Arrangements have been made however, for the employers to meet the building trades council this afternoon to get a definite answer whether they will arbitrate the question. The carpenters are willing to do and abide by it if the exchange will do so, though up to the present the employers have shown no inclination to do so.

If the employers refuse to arbitrate today the strike will assume a serious aspect, as the whole building trades will remain out and tight the question to the end.

BADLY MIXED

Alberta: Though Canada may be well advertised in the old land, yet by the look of the following report taken from London Morning Leader, there is something for the newspapers to learn about our geography.

Alberta, B.C., Peace River district, due south of Klondyke, in the extreme north west of British Columbia, and other descriptions given are very interesting.

The article is dated Montreal "from our own correspondent". It reads as follows:

A Dominion government survey party which has just returned to Edmonton, in the Alberta district, brings the story of gold being discovered in the Peace river country.

Surprising samples have been brought back, which by the crudest kind of assay gives values of from 7 dollars to 32 dollars per ton.

No experienced miner will accept this as anywhere near the real value of the gold-bearing rock which has been discovered.

This new gold field is thirty miles below Fort St. John and is seventeen miles from Alberta, British Columbia.

The line of gold-bearing rock is a stretch of between 200 and 300 feet projecting from a bank overhanging the river. It is located in Big House above Head.

The Peace River district is due south of Klondyke, and is situated in the extreme northwest of British Columbia, at the foot of the Rocky Mountains. The Peace River is formed by the junction of the Findlay river and the Paranal river which flows through a rocky canyon half a mile long, and subsequently enters the province of Athabasca in the Northwest Territories of Canada.

For some years prospectors have of gold field, is in the province of British Columbia, being situated on the north bank of the Peace River, where it was moved from the opposite side a few years ago.

For some time prospectors have been at work in the district around St. John, but hitherto without much success, although in the Caribou and other districts of British Columbia, extensive gold fields have been worked.

The prospectors reached St. John from Edmonton in the Northwest Territories, which is the terminus of the branch from the Canadian Pacific Railway (that is from the east) than from British Columbia since there are rapids, heavy portages, dense forests, and extraordinary swarms of black flies and mosquitoes.

If this new gold field proves to be genuine, there will be a great rush from Battleford, the district where the Rev. Dr. Barr's "All-British" colony of British emigrants was planted a few years ago.

THE PRIVATE SECRETARY.

While the newly formed regiment of Canadian Mounted Rifles were in camp last summer the following communications were exchanged between the "Beaver House" chapter of the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire, whose motto "For home and empire" will explain how largely patriotic their work is, and the commanding officer Lieut.-Col. Macdonell.

Sir: At a special meeting of Beaver House chapter of the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire, held in Edmonton, Monday, June 25, the following resolution was carried unanimously:

Moved by Mrs. Bryce J. Saunders, seconded by Mrs. E. E. Barrow, that this chapter present the newly formed regiment of Canadian Mounted Rifles with a set of colors I have the honor to be your obedient servant,

E. GRACE FERRIS,
Secretary Beaver House Chapter.
Lieutenant Colonel A. C. Macdonell, B.S.O., commanding officer camp of instruction.

To which was received the following reply:

Canadian Mounted Rifles, Camp Edmonton, 30-6-06.

Madam: Replying to your kind communication of June 25th, 06.

I have the honor to request that you will convey to Beaver House chapter of the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire the sincere and grateful thanks of the officers and men of the regiment of Canadian Mounted Rifles camped here, for their extremely timely and acceptable present of a set of colors. May I add that to me personally (as the grandson of that unwavering old U.E. Loyalist Colonel the Hon. Alexander Macdonell of Balaclava) it is a matter of extreme gratification that during my temporary command the regiment has received such a mark of honor from the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire, that empire the honor and integrity of which many of us have in times past done our best to maintain in the stirring times of war and are ready should occasion arise to do so again, this being in very truth why the regiment you have honored exists.

I have the honor to be madam, your obedient servant,

A. C. MACDONELL.

To Madam E. Grace Ferris, Hon. Secretary Beaver House Chapter Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire.

To meet the expense of the purchase of the colors, as well as to defray expenses in connection with their scheme of bringing out servants from the Motherland, which is now assuming tangible form the chapter with the aid of the best local talent expect to play "The Private Secretary," a most amusing, three-act comedy, in the new theater at the corner of 3rd and Jasper avenue.

The public may look forward to this interesting event taking place about the middle of November, the exact date to be published later.

Minister of the Interior Banquetted

The toast of the Senate and House of Commons was proposed by Mr. K. W. McKenzie. It was no ordinary occasion, he said. In this gathering, with east, west, north and south of the great province we had a representative of the bone and sinew of the country. He was proud to be present, because Mr. Oliver was one of ourselves. The toast was replied to by Senator Talbot, who was heartily received by Senator Roy, and Dr. McIntyre, M. P. for Strathcona.

SENATOR TALBOT

He thanked them heartily for the manner of disposing of the toast. We have in the Commons and Senate men who were always finding fault. Such men as Mr. Foster, for example, who often find fault even with Mr. Oliver. He congratulated them in charge on the success of the banquet. The people of Edmonton had always done things well, but now they had possibly a greater object than before. The banquet was not given to the guest of the evening because he was their representative in the House of Commons because he was elevated to the position of minister of the Crown. It was because Mr. Oliver was filling the position with success. It was a difficult position. When he (Talbot) was teaching school he found it was always difficult to succeed a successful teacher. Mr. Oliver was called to follow a strong man, and a remarkable man. Hence it was that much more to his credit that he was discharging his duties with such ability. The West is proud of his success, and Edmonton is not prouder than other parts in this splendid province.

Senator Talbot then spoke of the Senate. In 1903 the Liberals in convention declared for a reformation of the Senate, which had not been carried out to the full, as the other pledges given at that convention, but the Liberal party was justified in not dealing with this question at the time. They found the Senate solid Conservative, but after some years it was becoming Liberal, which was a wrong system. He was convinced that the members of the Senate were ready to reform itself and such a move should proceed from within the Senate, and no doubt soon would.

SENATOR ROY

Senator Roy, in rising, thanked the audience and chairman for calling him to his feet. Although young in politics he said he had the great fortune to have made his debut in politics under such a leader as Hon. Frank Oliver. He extended a glad welcome to Mr. and Mrs. Oliver on their return to our land. He had still fresh in his memory the prediction of Mr. Oliver in the late election. They all thought then that perhaps his great enthusiasm had something to do with these predictions, but he could say without hesitation that these predictions had been fulfilled, and he felt that a great deal of this progress was due to the untiring efforts of Mr. Oliver.

He spoke of the work of the Senate during the late term, and stated that they had not hesitated, although opposed by existing companies, in granting railway charters, which would open this country. He concluded by saying that if his efforts in the Senate could be of any benefit to the country they would be cheerfully given.

DR. MCINTYRE

Dr. McIntyre responded for the House of Commons in a neat and instructive speech. He thanked the Association for the honor of responding to such a subject. The task was great and only overcome by the pleasure it gave him to do honor to the guest of the evening. "He is my minister," said Dr. McIntyre, because I am the only other Liberal member from Alberta. I claim him for another reason. I am closely associated with him in appealing for the rights of my constituents and keep in close touch with him. He has given me every consideration. My minister and I have not agreed on all topics that have had a pointed interest in both constituencies. In all these discussions, however, Mr. Oliver has given me a chance to put my case fairly. I have had a fight with him as you know on a matter closely affecting our interests. I am not ashamed to say in this my first opportunity to the people of Edmonton, that I am not ashamed of that fight. I would put up a harder fight the next time, for I was elected to represent my constituency, Strathcona.

Many objections were sometimes advanced against the way the business was conducted in the House of Commons. One was the question of debate. It is said just of Commons, and no doubt many members are too long-winded. But the fuller the discussion the wider and more intelligent the legislation.

He thought there was a defect in responsible government. Every session they had examples of members who would trump up a blanket motion, and talk to empty benches, so that they might square themselves with their constituents. After they had talked, the leader asked for the withdrawal of the motion, and this was done. This session it seemed the policy of the opposition to badger the Minister of Interior. It was a so-called scandal session. He recalled the case of the member of St. Antoine division, Montreal, who charged the Minister of the Interior with maladministration in the granting of homesteads. The member for St. Antoine declared the homestead regulations were set aside, and in cases the time was indefinitely extended. He had been a few weeks in the west one summer and was ready with concrete examples. Every man familiar with the west knows it is the even sections that are open for homesteading, but the much-informed member in question was talking of the odd sections. The bottom was knocked out of his case. That was a sample of the charges.

Another charge was the "thin red line" scandal from Manitoba. The matter was investigated by the Committee on Privileges and Elections, and witnesses brought to Ottawa. It was found out that the Roblin government had registered the names of the voters, but had not divided them into their appropriate polling subdivisions. When the returning officers were appointed to take the vote they had to divide the registration districts into polling subdivisions, and allot the voters to their own subdivision, striking out the others, which was done by a red line. One of the voters who it was alleged was disfranchised when before the committee, swore that he had voted, and another who went from Winnipeg to Miami to vote, was said to have been disfranchised. But before the committee it was proven that at Miami he had declined to take the oath because he had been absent more than a year.

In conclusion, the member for Strathcona said the fairness and honesty that has always characterized the Liberal administration characterized it today.

G. H. Stutchbury sang a song, which was well received by the company.

President Manson introduced the guest with the remark that Mr. Oliver had always unselfishly and successfully acted in the interest of the people in the legislature, and the wider sphere in federal politics. His career had always belied his critics. No man had done more to advertise the resources of the province of Alberta than Frank Oliver.

HON. F. OLIVER

Mr. President and Gentlemen: I will not try to express my feelings at this demonstration. It is not so much because of what you have said or what you have shouted as because that there are so many of you. It would be false modesty, if I did not appreciate the honor that has been heaped upon me.

It has been my task or good fortune to meet large audiences in the Northwest. The occasions have occasionally been rather strenuous, and it is now a pleasure to meet a large audience on an occasion of good will. I have been given credit by the chairman with having inherited the trait of my ancestry of a willingness to fight, but it is doubly pleasurable to meet such an audience in mutual good will. I see here many whom I have met in different and opposing circumstances, and I take it that it is not so much that their political opinions have changed as that they wish to welcome me here again to the city of Edmonton. So we hope that there will not be anything said or done this evening to mar the pleasure of the occasion. But it is meet that something should be said as to why we are Liberals and why we hold opinions that are called Liberal.

We are in a good position today in the West and throughout the Dominion of Canada. Canada is coming to her own, and no part more than the Northwest and Alberta, and the good city of Edmonton. We have a country of vast and numerous advantages, but it is a mistake to think that this splendid prosperity is a matter of inevitable growth. The country was not as good to live in ten years ago, nor even five years ago, and we expect it will expand and improve till it is still better to live in.

The people of Canada have made the country prosperous, and the methods of government have enabled them to turn its vast resources to the best advantage. The government represents the Liberal idea as opposed to the Conservative idea. I have nothing to say against the Conservative method and idea of government. But the evidence of the past ten years has shown that the policy of the Liberal government is a better one for Canada than the Conservative policy. The time may come when Conservatism will be better for Canada than Liberalism, but it has not been for the last decade, and I believe that the principles and declared policy of the Liberal party will for many years to come be the best for Canada.

The first effort which was made by the government was to secure more hands to turn to account the latent resources of this country. That policy was energetically pursued, but it would have been of little account to have brought thousands of people to this country had not railway facilities been provided under conditions which would guarantee to producers the best results for their labours. That required time. It took time to establish confidence. It took a long time, because there was a lack of confidence in the country, not only in foreign parts but in Canada, even in the Northwest. But this lack of confidence was overcome, and now there is confidence and a consequent progress such as does not exist in any other country in the world. And now when the people know that if they have not transportation facilities they will get them soon, the tide of immigration becomes stronger and stronger day by day. It would be a mistake, I say, to believe that his condition was arrived at by chance or by the Darwinian theory of evolution.

It may not be out of place to say it devolves upon me as member of the government to see that the conditions prevailing now shall continue to prevail. We have still vast areas to be occupied. We are not content that we have raised 55 million bushels of wheat this year. We want to raise hundreds of millions. We have people enough in the country today to raise 125 or 150 millions. The immigrants of the last two or three years have not begun yet to grow wheat. At no time in our history was there such an immigration of so good a class, with so much money being brought into the country. We are at high water mark compared with any previous year.

My friend Senator Talbot has been kind enough to say that it was my desire to be fair to everyone, and I say now to the people of Edmonton that I never have tried to be unfair for the benefit of Edmonton, but I do say they will always get that square deal that has been given to other parts of the country, and it is my experience that that is all Edmonton needs.

From the rocks of Koorra to the continental divide there is a vast amount of country to be administered, but I want to say to you that the greatest future of the city of Edmonton lies in the development of the country to the north and country north and west of Edmonton means to this country what the already developed northwest does to Winnipeg.

The extent of the country north and west of Edmonton we may measure, but its resources no man knows. Two hundred and fifty miles from Edmonton to the foot of the Rockies; 400 miles by the survey of the Grand Trunk Pacific to the mountains by the Peace River route; 400 miles to Vermilion on the north, where the best wheat in the world is grown; 1,600 miles to the Arctic ocean. Every dollar, every acre cultivated, every stick, every grain of fur in this vast country is tributary to Edmonton. The development of this country means the growth of Edmonton.

This kind demonstration towards me from Edmonton and other cities and towns of the province will have a practical and vine will have a practical turn. I have never feared to take up a cause that I thought was right, and I have never counted the numbers for or against, but to quote the somewhat profane remark which history credits to the first Napoleon, "Providence is always on the side of the heavy battalions." The public man with the largest and strongest majority is the man whose work is most effective.

Mr. George Baetz of Fort Saskatchewan was called on, and gave two songs that were well received. J. H. Gariepy, first vice-president of the Liberal Association, proposed the toast of the Alberta Legislature. When he came to this country fourteen years ago he never thought he would see a parliament in Edmonton. He had every confidence in Premier Rutherford and his colleagues to give wise government to the province.

HON. W. T. FINLAY

In answering the toast, W. T. Finlay explained that he was laboring under difficulties. He had a bad cold, and there was a newspaper in the province which said he knew nothing. However, he hoped his audience would be satisfied with an Irishman who would do the best he could.

He sketched the formation of the Alberta government, and the circumstances, under which he came into the government.

Referring to his work as Minister of Agriculture, he said, he had set to work to study out what would be something new to benefit the farmers. The creameries came under their special care, and he said from evidence gathered at 80 fairs he had attended that farmers appreciated the government's efforts. Another feature was the poultry fattening stations which will be established at each creamery. All the farmer had to do was to bring chickens of a certain age to the station; the government would fatten them and hand the farmer his check.

Touching on the beef question, he said the farmer did not get the price he should for the beef. He had seen beef sold for 24 cents. There must be an undue profit somewhere. The government proposed to appoint a committee to see where the great difference in price came in. He claimed the honor of being the first to take this work up. He had been kindly assisted by premiers of other provinces, and he was pleased to be able to announce tonight the members of the commission are: W. Scallion, Verden, Man., Commissioner for Manitoba; D. W. Quick, Maple Creek, Commissioner for Saskatchewan; Alex. Middleton, Coleridge, Commissioner for Alberta; J. W. Logan, Victoria, Commissioner for British Columbia.

The commission would soon be called together, and he hoped that the result would be a better price for the farmers.

As Minister of Agriculture, he wanted to say he had attended fairs and had been astonished at the cattle and vegetables displayed. At Vegreville, only a year old, there was a truly remarkable exhibit, proving the people who came to this country and tried invariably got along. A great many of the settlers in this country were Americans and Galicians, against whom he had not a word to say; he welcomed them, but he deplored the fact that there were not more Canadians coming, or that Canadians leaving home should ever go anywhere else.

He recalled in kindly vein the old days in the Regina house when he used to be associated with Frank Oliver years ago, and he was pleased to know that he was working today in the same faithful way as he had done in those early days of the country's history.

JOHN T. MOORE, M.P.P.

Mr. John T. Moore, M.P.P., said that when he looked out upon the brilliant gathering, it appeared to him more like the doings of Aladdin's magic lamp than the result of the labour of men. The spirit of the magician had been abroad in the land, and the living embodiment of the sublime achievement was the guest of the evening. The occasion was the full dress parade of Alberta Liberalism reviewed by him who had been and is its leader and guiding spirit. He was not surprised that the opposition had attacked Mr. Oliver for "Satan loves a shining mark." While Edmonton was paying tribute to Mr. Oliver, Red Deer was glad to add a sprig to the chaplet.

He could commiserate with Dr. McIntyre in not always getting what he wanted. "We get used to being under the dog when we go against Edmonton." It was true that if there had been no Alberta there would have been no Oliver, as he is now known, but it was also true that had there been no Oliver there would have been no Alberta as it is known today. It was a far cry from a Red River cart to a palace car, and from the blue shirt and top boots in which he had first seen Mr. Oliver over twenty years ago, to the immaculate toilet of a minister of the Crown. He had run the gauntlet from building a camp fire beside the Battleford trail to the administration of a department, continental in its operation, and with ramifications extending to the lands beyond the sea. It had been an honor when he was called to the position, but in the western vernacular, he had "made good."

He asked his hearers to remember at this time the outstanding figure of the great leader of Liberalism in the Dominion.

The speaker recalled in vivid language the inauguration ceremonies when the reception of Sir Wilfrid had betokened the place he occupied in the hearts and minds of the Canadian people.

We had a great premier, a good legislature, a splendid administration, doing good work. We should have a great vision for "Where there is no vision the people perish."

He concluded an remarkable oration with a poem fittingly embodying the ideals of Albertan. As he sat down the audience caught by the enthusiasm of the speaker, rose en masse and toasted "The Province of Alberta" amid cheers.

THE LIBERAL PARTY

George B. McLeod, president of the Liberal Association, was called upon to propose the toast of the Liberal party, and in so doing made a brief but very neat address on the principles of the Liberal party and the honor that is due to the Minister of the Interior. He coupled with the toast the names of Dr. Stewart of Olds, Dr. Clark of Calgary, and Duncan Marshall of Edmonton.

DR. STEWART

Dr. Stewart got considerably fun out of the fact that he and Dr. Clark had both met defeat on the Liberal ticket in Alberta, and that Duncan Marshall had met the same fate in another part of the Dominion, and presumed that from them only the reverse side of the case could be had. He reminded the audience that while the north was strongly Liberal there were staunch Liberal hearts in the south. As he said of the pollywag, "the body was the bulk of it, but it was the tail that made it go," and he predicted before long that the south would be as staunchly Liberal as the north.

He referred briefly to a trip which he made to Ottawa in the interests of Calgary for the capital, where he met John T. Moore on the same mission for Red Deer. He admitted in a jocular way that he always liked to see a man represent his case well, even though he might be of a different opinion, and in this instance Edmonton's case was well represented.

DR. CLARK

Dr. Clark of Olds was the next speaker. He said when he came to Canada four and a half years ago he took a ticket to Edmonton. Fate played a trick and broke his journey at Olds. He had sustained a defeat, but to one who had taken part in politics for 20 years on both sides of the Atlantic, losing an election was a small matter. The citizens of Olds vie with those of Edmonton in their appreciation of the services of Mr. Oliver.

The Liberal party gives good evidence of being in good health except for two small remnants they had swallowed their opponents in Alberta. He rated the Opposition for appointing a temporary leader. Possibly they knew they would have no need for one after the elections. He had been told that when half the opposition is absent the other half tries to lead itself, and hardly manages it. The defeat of the opposition has fallen as a fitting answer to a pilgrimage of passion, first carried to London and Woodstock. It was a dead issue when raised last fall in this province. There is a feeling in the province that we have a government of strong and progressive men.

Turning to the party in the Dominion the party was certainly to be congratulated. Ten years is a long time to be in power, but the party is a strongly seated as ever. It would be charity, he thought, to drink the health of the Opposition at Ottawa.

The question was, were the party and the government utilizing the possibilities at hand. Blake said years ago that what Canada needed was men, money and markets. Now

NO MILITARISM.
London, Oct. 3.—At a banquet given by the directors of the British Columbia company at Princess restaurant last night, Sir Frederick Borden, in responding to the toast of the Dominion of Canada, gave a glowing account of its prosperity from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

He denied that militarism existed in Canada, and said there was no likelihood of it ever existing in the Dominion.

You MUST EAT, there is no getting away from that. Try the CITY RESTAURANT, QUEENS AVENUE. Open Monday, October 8th.

WEATHER.
Winnipeg, Oct. 5.—The weather has been fine for the most part fair and cool from Manitoba to the Pacific coast. A little rain is reported in northern Manitoba.
